

Our target is all building permits reviewed in under two weeks. We have effectively reached this target for the last three months. The average review time above does not account for lost review time when plans are sent back to the applicant for revision.